Headline:
Becoming cold and unsettled Sunday night, with wintry showers possible.

Today:
Fine and dry with plenty of sunshine, but with occasional patchy cloud cover. Temperatures around average for the time of year but feeling warmer in the sunshine and given light winds. Maximum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Tonight:
After a mostly clear start to the night, patchy cloud begins to approach from the east towards the early hours. Chilly, with perhaps the odd patch of frost and fog. Minimum temperature 0 deg C (32 deg F).

Saturday:
Any frost, fog and cloud clears into the morning to give a fine and dry day with plenty of sunshine. Chilly into the night, with frost and fog returning. Maximum temperature 10 deg C (50 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Following a bright day, conditions turn unsettled Sunday night with rain turning to wintry showers, as cold temperatures and blustery winds develop. Less windy Tuesday, though the odd shower continues.
